

I want to be an explorer

by Brenda Williams

I want to be an explorer!
That's all that I want to do.
I want to be an explorer!
And one day my dream will come true.

I want to dive beneath icy waves
To explore the coldest seas.
To spend a year on an iceberg
And watch the water freeze.

I want to sail all the oceans
And land in an unknown place.
I want to orbit the world one day
Look at Earth from a distant space.

I want to be an explorer
This really is my goal.
To soar up high into unknown space
And speed through a dark black hole.

I want to fly solo to the moon.
I want to travel the stars.
I want to visit the planets.
Be the first to walk on Mars.

I want to prowl through jungles
And trek through desert sands.
To travel an unknown journey
And discover mysterious lands.

I want to be an explorer.
I want this more and more.
I want to climb every mountain
And free-fall where eagles soar.

I want to walk on the sea bed.
And swim through reefs and wrecks.
Search through ancient galleons.
Seek gold beneath their decks.

One day I WILL explore the world,
I really want to roam.
But the problem at the moment is...
I can't find my way home!
